AWS D1.8 Seismic Welding Seminar

May 27, 2009 8:30am - 4:00pm

McGraw-Hill Auditorium
1221 Ave of the Americas
New York, NY 10020
$175 members AWS, AISC, ASCE, AIA
$195 non-members

*Presented by Lincoln Electric and
The Steel Institute of New York*

The AWS D1.8 Seismic Supplement to the Structural Welding Code is now being specified in construction documents for projects of all types. D1.8 will require changes in practices for steel fabricators and erectors.

This seminar will cover: the background history that led to D1.8; how D1.8 interacts with D1.1 and AISC specs; what engineers are required to include on drawings; new terms associated with seismic construction; new requirements for welding procedure specifications (WPS's); new filler metal requirements; new welder qualification requirements; new detailing and fabrication requirements; and solutions to help meet these challenges.

Registration sign-in and continental breakfast at 7:30am, with the seminar starting at 8:30am. Lunch is provided. Attendees will receive a copy of the presenters course notes.

Presenter: Duane K. Miller, P.E., Sc.D.

Duane is Manager of Lincoln Electric's Engineering Services Department, but more importantly for this seminar, he was the Chair of the D1.8 committee since its inception. In 2009, he became Chair of the AWS D1 committee and is also a member of the AISC Specifications committee. Dr. Miller is well versed not only in the technical aspects of these standards, but also understands the practical aspects of fabrication and erection.

Continuing Education Credits: Attendees will receive 6.0 PDHs. Program is registered with AIA/CES,
